Lesson Title : Short Story Final Draft

Course Name : English 2 Part 3 [Honors]

Task Id : 57714587

Course Id : 15021

Essential Instruction

It is a good idea to use your digital notebook to keep your outline and notes that you may need to reference later.

In today's lesson, you will be composing the final draft of your short story. The word final can be daunting and can be intimidating, but you have planning, outlined, drafted, edited and revised. Now it is time to make final changes to your story and compose a neat, clean short story worthy of publication.

While writing your final draft, make sure your character and setting are detailed, the plot unfolds in a logical sequence, and the point of view is clear and consistent. Make sure you check your draft for spelling and grammar errors. Take into account the tips and advice you received from peer editing. What suggestions did your peers make that could be incorporated at this stage? What did you notice about your peers' rough drafts that you could use in your writing?

Now that you understand the steps to writing a final draft, it is time to begin to write your short story.
