

6.06 Gathering Information

Title and URL	Accurate? How do you know?	Current? How do you know?	Biased or Unbiased? Explain.	Authority? Explain.	Overall Reliable?
www.archives.gov/education/lessons/civil-rights-act  Teaching With Documents: The Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission	Yes, the author cites other well-known, reliable sources.	Yes, it was written in 2014.	Unbiased because the other shared facts and evidence, not her own opinions.	Yes, the author has a doctorate in this field.	Yes.
www.oyez.org/cases/2007/09-290  District of Columbia v. Heller	Yes, the publisher used direct facts from the case.	Yes, this page was created in the last 10 years.	Not biased, as both sides are explained here, not just one.	Yes, the site is supported by many institutions, and even the government itself.	Yes.
law.cornell.edu/supremecourt/text/13-1314  Arizona State Legislature v. Arizona Independent Restricting Commission	Yes, the publisher uses direct facts from the case.	Yes, this page was published in June 2015.	Not biased, as both sides are explained here, not just one.	Yes, the site is published by Cornell.	Yes.
archive.thinkprogress.org/how-the-supreme-court-could-repeal-the-20th-century-4f67719ac46a/  How the Supreme Court Could Repeal the 20th Century	Yes, the author of this article cites his sources.	Yes, the article was published in March 2015.	Not biased, as the author only uses accurate facts, not his own opinion.	Yes, the author of this article was a writer for ThinkProgress.	Yes.